'Believe, Excite, Succeed, Together'

Friday 15th January 2021

Dear Parents and Carers,

Well we've made it to the end of the first full week of home learning! I have to say a massive thank you to all parents and carers for facilitating your child's learning and ensuring that they attend the calls and submit work. We are aware how demanding the task can be, especially for those parents who continue to work from home. We also appreciate that some children may be feeling a little more anxious or are struggling to work independently or even engage with some of the learning that has been set. Our teachers carefully select a balance of work which requires revision of knowledge and skills and new learning. These are also accompanied by video clips for your child to watch or power points to aid learning. This should enable your child to access learning both with support and on their own. If your child is struggling to engage with their learning please contact us so we can support the best way we can. We aim to begin some well-being groups in the near future. Individual children will be invited to these.

It has been refreshing to see so many children attend our Virtual Collective worship each day. It is always a joy to see everyone and be together as a school family, even if it is on a screen. I have loved hearing and seeing the fun and laughter that has been shared when playing in the snow. Getting your child outside for daily exercise or even to play is a great way to keep a healthy body and mind. Look at their faces in the snow!

Finally, don't forget that you can request printed packs of learning to support your child's remote education. Please contact andrea.burton@welbourn.lincs.sch.uk by Thursday lunchtime each week to ensure that they are ready on time to be collected on Friday.

Take care and stay safe!

Once upon a time, there was a house in the woods and two children called Hansel and Gretel lived there with their father and stepmother. Their father who was very poor, could no longer feed the family. The mean stepmother told the father to take the children into the forest and leave them there. Hansel and Gretel heard what was going to happen, so Hansel grabbed pebbles to take with them. Hansel and Gretel went on a walk with their father, they got very tired and went to sleep. When the children woke up they were alone so they called the stones home. Their stepmother was very angry and told the father to take the children on another long walk. Hansel used bread to drop on the path. The children fell asleep again, but when they woke up all the bread crumbs were gone. They walked through the forest and saw a gingerbread house covered in candy. They started to eat the candy. An old woman told them to come in and she put Hansel in a cage, because she wanted to eat him.
